Position #724 Non-Tenure Track Visiting Assistant Professor or Lecturer
African American and African Diaspora Studies
UNC Greensboro
The University seeks a pool for lecturers https://spartantalent.uncg.edu/postings/17167

The Program in African American and African Diaspora Studies at the University of North Carolina Greensboro seeks a Non-Tenure Track Visiting Assistant Professor or Lecturer for the 2020-21 Academic Year. We welcome applicants who conduct research in any area; preference will be given to candidates with a PhD or equivalent terminal degree with expertise in African American Studies and related fields. Teaching experience is required. Candidates must demonstrate potential for excellence as a scholar-teacher, and publication of scholarly research is desirable. For a Visiting Assistant Professor (PhD in hand by August 1), the teaching load will be 3/3 undergraduate courses per semester; for a Lecturer (ABD), the teaching load will be 4/4.

UNCG is a Minority Serving Institution (MSI), with an undergraduate student body in 2019 consisting of 44% ethnic and minority students, and we seek an appropriately diverse applicant pool for this position. UNCG and AADS foster an environment of collaboration across departments and schools and support community-engaged research. Consistently recognized nationally among the top universities for academic excellence and value, UNCG is an EEO/Affirmative Action/M/F/D/V employer strongly committed to increasing faculty diversity.

Applicants should provide a cover letter, c.v., scholarly writing sample, and three current reference letters to Dr. Noelle Morrissette, Director, AADS namorris@uncg.edu. Program anticipates scheduling Zoom interviews in early July.
